

ABSTRACT

An apparatus and method for facilitating nuclear fusion, wherein micro-scale, controlled hydrogen nuclear 5 fusion is effectuated without the introduction of extreme temperatures and pressures, and wherein the utilization of a geometrically-enhanced reacting surface induces and/or facilitates multiple room temperature fusion reactions thereon.